GREAT FUNDRAISING IDEAS

Here are some great fundraising ideas to help get your creativity flowing as you think of ways to get your children and youth excited as you work toward your fundraising goal.

1

IGNITE EURASIA BUTTONS!

Ignite Eurasia Buttons are a great way to award kids and to use as incentives for giving. Print the image on paper and make buttons or use it to create your own unique buttons. The best way to collect buttons and pins is to put them on lanyards. The kids can also collect them on a piece of felt, a ribbon, a jacket, or a hat.

MISSIONS MADNESS MONTH!

The purpose of this four-week campaign is to bring special attention to the Ignite Eurasia Project. The object of the campaign is to get every person in your church or Outpost involved by collecting coins (or money) for one month in order to reach and mentor lost kids through Ignite Eurasia. We also suggest that you show an Ignite Eurasia Project video clip to the congregation and to the kids. Show a clip on the first Sunday that you announce Missions Madness Month. You may want to show a clip every week. Ignite Eurasia has great videos on the igniteEurasia.RRI.world website free to download.

PIE IN THE FACE!

With this fundraiser you have a lot of options:

OPTION 1: Set an amount for each of your kids to work towards. Any kid who reaches that goal gets to put a whip cream pie in their leader's face, whether that leader is a RR Leader, Sunday School teacher, Children's Church volunteer, etc.

OPTION 2: This is a tiered award system. Start with option 1 and set the minimum goal. But also set a higher goal, and any kid who reaches it gets to put a pie in the Royal Ranger Leader's face. Then set an even higher goal above that and any kid who reaches it will get to put a pie in the Outpost Coordinator's face.

OPTION 3: Boys versus Girls. Elect one leader to represent the boys and one to represent the girls. Whichever group brings the most money gets to pie the other group's leader. You can either have the winning leader pie the other group's leader, or you can make a bunch of mini whip cream pies and let each of the kids on the winning team pie that other leader.

THE HUMAN HOTDOG!

With this idea you would give a child a packet of ketchup, mustard, or relish for each dollar they raise for Ignite Eurasia.

They would get to squeeze the packet out onto the person who is becoming the hotdog. For $20, a kid can empty a small bottle of condiment on the leader. For $50, they get a commercial-sized bottle.

MISSIONS CARNIVAL!

A Missions Carnival is a great way to raise Missions awareness within the church and within the hearts of kids. The concept behind this Missions Carnival is to set up several booths that kids will visit. Each booth will provide an activity where the kids can win prizes. Costumes can be worn by booth participants, if desired. Set a ticket price to play games and sell snacks to raise funds for Ignite Eurasia.

Well in advance of the event, post a listing of the supplies and materials you'll need. Ask members of the church to help provide these. Have a place for church members to check off what they can supply and to include their name and contact information.

ROLL-A-THON!

The Roll-a-Thon differs slightly from a Bike-a-Thon in that kids can participate using any non-motorized, wheeled sporting device—such as bikes, skateboards, roller skates, or roller blades.

Note: The local church should determine whether the event is bikes only or bikes and alternate wheeled sporting devices. Raise sponsors per kilometre.

FAITH PROMISES!

Kids can make faith promises for Ignite Eurasia! They can hear God's voice and then follow His leading in how much they should pledge to Ignite Eurasia and how to earn the money to fulfill that pledge. What a wonderful opportunity it has been to see children sacrificially giving to missions through Ignite Eurasia. When children make faith promises, God expands their heart for the world. The entire time that the kids are working to earn money for Ignite Eurasia, they are realizing that they are helping to reach the lost around the world. This has an everlasting impact on a child.

FUNDRAISING MEAL!

Ask individuals, families, or your group/outpost to plan a fundraising meal. With your pastor's approval, serve the meal following a church service.

The cooks have to plan out the special meal and to procure the supplies needed for the meal. Look to farmers and gardeners in your church to donate some of the supplies needed for the meal.

And don't forget to include your Royal Rangers/kids in the process, whether they are helping cook or serve!

Serve meals and ask for donations to the Ignite Eurasia Project. Focus on one of the three goals of the project to have a meal three times in a year, or have one meal that focuses on the project as a whole.
